

Current Events

Current events are important in helping you become a knowledgeable and informed member of society. To become a health literate individual, it is crucial one knows how to find and understand reliable health sources.

Directions: Search for a reliable current event pertaining to health or specific topic assigned by your teacher. Print and annotate the article before completing the questions below. Wikipedia is not a reliable source.

Article Title:

Author:

Site:

Date of Article:

Summarize the article in 5 sentences:

What are the 3 most important points in the article?

- 1.
- 2.
- 3.

How does the information within the article apply to the following components of health?

A. Physical Health:

B. Mental/Emotional Health:

C. Social Health:

After reading and analyzing the article is there anything that makes you question the validity of the information given? Is this information reliable or opinion based? If yes, what makes it reliable? If no, why?